Notes to Financial Statements

Years ended December 31, 2006 and 2005

Yorbeau Resources Inc. ("Yorbeau" or the "Company") is incorporated under the laws of the Province of Québec. The Company owns mining and exploration properties in the Province of Québec.

1. Basis of presentation:

These financial statements have been prepared on the going concern basis, which assumes the realization of assets and liquidation of liabilities in the normal course of business. The application of the going concern concept is dependent on the Company's ability to generate future profitable operations and to issue capital stock.

2. Significant accounting policies:

(a) Cash and cash equivalents:

Cash and cash equivalents include temporary investments with a maturity date of three months or less from the date of purchase, and are stated at cost, which approximates market value. The major components of cash and cash equivalents are as follows:

	2006	2005
Cash and short-term deposits	$ 343,303	$ 461,040
Exploration fund	–	1,366,136
	$ 343,303	$ 1,827,176

Exploration fund is restrictive for the purpose of exploration expenses.

(b) Mining and exploration assets:

Mining assets consist of deferred expenditures and development costs related to property for which economically recoverable reserves exist. Mining assets are, upon commencement of production, depleted over the estimated life of the ore reserve to which they relate or are written off if the property is abandoned or when the fair value exceeds its carrying value.

Exploration assets are carried at cost. Exploration and development expenses relating to a non-producing property are deferred until the property is brought into production or abandoned. If exploration work does not provide positive results or upon abandonment, these costs are charged to earnings. Management reviews the carrying values of assets on a regular basis to determine whether depreciation is required.

2. Significant accounting policies (continued):

(b) Mining and exploration assets (continued):

Recovery of the cost of mining and exploration assets depends on the discovery of economically recoverable ore reserves (for the exploration assets), the Company's ability to obtain the necessary financing to complete the exploration and development of the properties and future profitable production or the disposal of the properties for proceeds in excess of their carrying value.

(c) Stock option plan:

The Company uses the fair value method based on the Black-Scholes pricing model to record the compensation cost related to the issue of stock options to its participants over the vesting period with a corresponding credit to the contributed surplus.

(d) Income and mining taxes:

The Company uses the asset and liability method of accounting for income taxes.

Under this method, future tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases. Future tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted or substantively enacted tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on future tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is recognized in income in the period that includes the enactment date.

The Company renounces tax deductions relating to resource expenditures that are financed by the issuance of flow-through shares for the benefit of its shareholders, as permitted by the tax legislation.

Under the asset and liability method used to account for income taxes, future income taxes related to the temporary differences created by this renouncement are recorded in accordance with EIC-146 when the Company renounces these deductions and a corresponding cost of issuing the securities is also recorded.

(e) Use of estimates:

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period.

Significant areas requiring the use of estimates relate to assessing the realizable values of mining and exploration assets. Consequently, actual results could differ from those estimates.
